The Architecture of Confidence

- ① Context & Immersion - First-person framing anchors the vocabulary to a real-world visual state.

A (Customer): Hello, I want to withdraw money.
(Halo, saya ingin mengambil uang.)

- ② Turn-Taking Cues - Green = GO (Start the talk). Blue = RESPOND (Keep it going).

B (Teller): How much do you need?
(Anda butuh berapa banyak?)

- ③ Cognitive Safety Net - Interlinear layout provides immediate bilingual support to prevent freezing.

A (Customer): Five hundred thousand Rupiah, please.
(Tolong, lima ratus ribu Rupiah.)

B (Teller): Please sign here.
(Silakan tanda tangan di sini.)

Okay, we practiced with the help. Now, look at the picture and give me the English only!

The Learn Link Gamification Engine

Node 1: The Swap (Repetition)

Have students do the dialogue once, then "Swap Roles" to practice both the "Question" and "Answer" cues.

(Minta siswa melakukan dialog sekali, lalu 'Tukar Peran' untuk berlatih isyarat 'Pertanyaan' dan 'Jawaban'.)

Node 2: Dialogue Mode (Simulation)

The app plays the pre-recorded voice of Person A. The student must record the voice of Person B.

(Aplikasi memutar suara yang sudah direkam dari Orang A. Siswa harus merekam suara Orang B.)

Node 3: Survival Challenge (Pressure)

A 10-second timer counts down. The student must say the English phrase before the "plane leaves" or the "waiter walks away," forcing them to focus on English sounds.

(Pengatur waktu 10 detik menghitung mundur. Siswa harus mengucapkan frasa bahasa Inggris sebelum 'pesawat berangkat' atau 'pelayan pergi,' memaksa mereka untuk fokus pada bunyi bahasa Inggris.)

The Confidence to Competence Framework

The Interlinear POV framework does not build dependency; it builds immediate confidence, setting the stage for radical, timer-based independent fluency.
